

The MRRA, a 501(c)3 non-profit corporation & MMA affiliate, was established in 1984 as a membership-based organization to:

foster professional solid waste management practices; further development of recycling and resource recovery as cost-effective, environmentally sound solid waste management; and assist with the marketing of recyclable and reusable materials.

Our goals are to:

promote communication and information exchange between members and markets, equipment vendors, state and federal governments, other state and national associations as well as among members themselves;

compile and develop information relevant to the education and technical assistance needs of Maine's solid waste and resource recovery programs; and promote market development and cooperative marketing opportunities.
